Chapter 1: Words Hurt

Thought of on 11/5/12, 8-ish PM

Written on 11/6/12, 12:10PM.

In these words I hear a cry,

Trapped in the recesses of my mind,
Old fears, old anger, singing the song,
A call to give voice to the pain inside.

A voice crying out in the darkness,
Doesn't anyone hear? Doesn't anyone care?
Lost in the crowds of uncaring halls,
Forsaken by the world we called home.

Every word twists like a knife,

Destroying us from the inside out,
Every taunt, all the laughter,
Burned into our souls forever.

Hatred and fear our only companion,
Shunned by the rest of the world.
Freak, weird, ugly, stupid, nothing.
Slowly killing everything inside us.

A voice crying out in the darkness,
Doesn't anyone hear? Doesn't anyone care?
Lost in the crowds of uncaring halls,
Forsaken by the world we call home.

They'll never know how it feels,
To hide behind painted masks,
Trying to hide how much it hurts,
When they laugh at who we are.

Every word twists like a knife,
Destroying us from the inside out,
Every taunt, all the laughter,
Burned into our souls forever.

A voice crying out in the darkness,

Doesn't anyone hear? Doesn't anyone care?
Lost in the crowds of uncaring halls,
Forsaken by the world we call home...
